Team
As President and Founder of Circle West Architects, Peter M. Kolopoulos AIA provides the design, leadership and vision working closely with each of our clients, establishing benchmarking of design quality experiences.
Peter's thoughts and ideas have been forged through a combination of professional and unique personal experiences. These experiences include training at the Illinois Institute of Technology, founded under modern master Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, as well as living and traveling in various geographies throughout the United States, as well as abroad.
Peter is a leader and educator involved with local and national professional affiliations, which include the Urban Land Institute, American Institute of Architects, Society for College and University Planning, and U.S Green Building Council. Together with our clients, Circle West builds a better place for living.

ASUL
MULTI-HOME DEVELOPMENT
LOCATION PRESCOTT, AZ
ARCHITECT [MERO] PROJECT
CONSTRUCTION BOTH BUILD
STATUS COMPLETED, 2019
The Prescott Project is a multiple home development. The developer/client initially sought out both prefabricated and traditional site built construction options but local regulations required the construction of significant retaining walls to shelter and elevate the homes out of a flood zone.
ASUL proposed constructing their standard steel moment frame, resting on concrete caissons ranging in depth from 5 to 14-feet. This option efficiently elevated the entire structure out of the flood zone, eliminating the need for retaining walls. This solution was possible due to the unusual structural capabilities of the steel moment frame.

"Michael Pollack, the Founder of Anamorphics, is a unique individual that makes the web designing process enjoyable. His extensive graphic design experience, which overlays with his simplified coding process, helps streamline the program. He is essentially a talented architect and a skilled craftsman who delivers a highly customized product that is sophisticated, effective, and functional. For those who have had the pleasure of working with Michael, there really is no alternative. Anamorphics follows a structured creative process - since this is a customized product, it is imperative that stakeholders at the highest level actively participate in this process for the ultimate outcome.

Patrick Adler P.E. MBA LEED-AP
Vice President of Land Acquisition & Development for Blandford Homes, LLC
Former Vice President of T.W. Lewis
Managing Partner of Project Advancement

"What I admire about Anamorphics is their ability to deliver top-notch work within your deadline and within budget. They are very attentive to our requests, no matter how small and we are always quite pleased with the designs and professionalism of the collaterals they have created for us.

Angela Fitzgerald
Former Group Product Manager Primus Pharmaceuticals
Director of Marketing Human Good & L-Nutra Inc

"Working with Anamorphics and, in particular, Michael Pollack was a dream in my efforts to update our company's website. Michael is extremely knowledgeable in all elements of website development on all platforms. He has a Content Management System that is far and above what is typically provided and is very user friendly for making changes/additions from the web manager side. Michael is easy to communicate with and he was willing to address concerns to other members of my team including my IT Manager, with outstanding results. Ultimately, we were provided excellent customer service, a highly functioning and modern-looking website that was easy to edit and a beautiful product. I highly recommend them for any client looking to update their website or start a new branding campaign.
